

COMPANY PROFILE

CONTENTS

[illegible]

1. The flower is a complex structure that is designed to attract pollinators and to protect the reproductive organs. The petals are the most prominent part of the flower and are often brightly colored. The stamens are the male reproductive organs and are located in the center of the flower. The pistil is the female reproductive organ and is located at the base of the stamens.

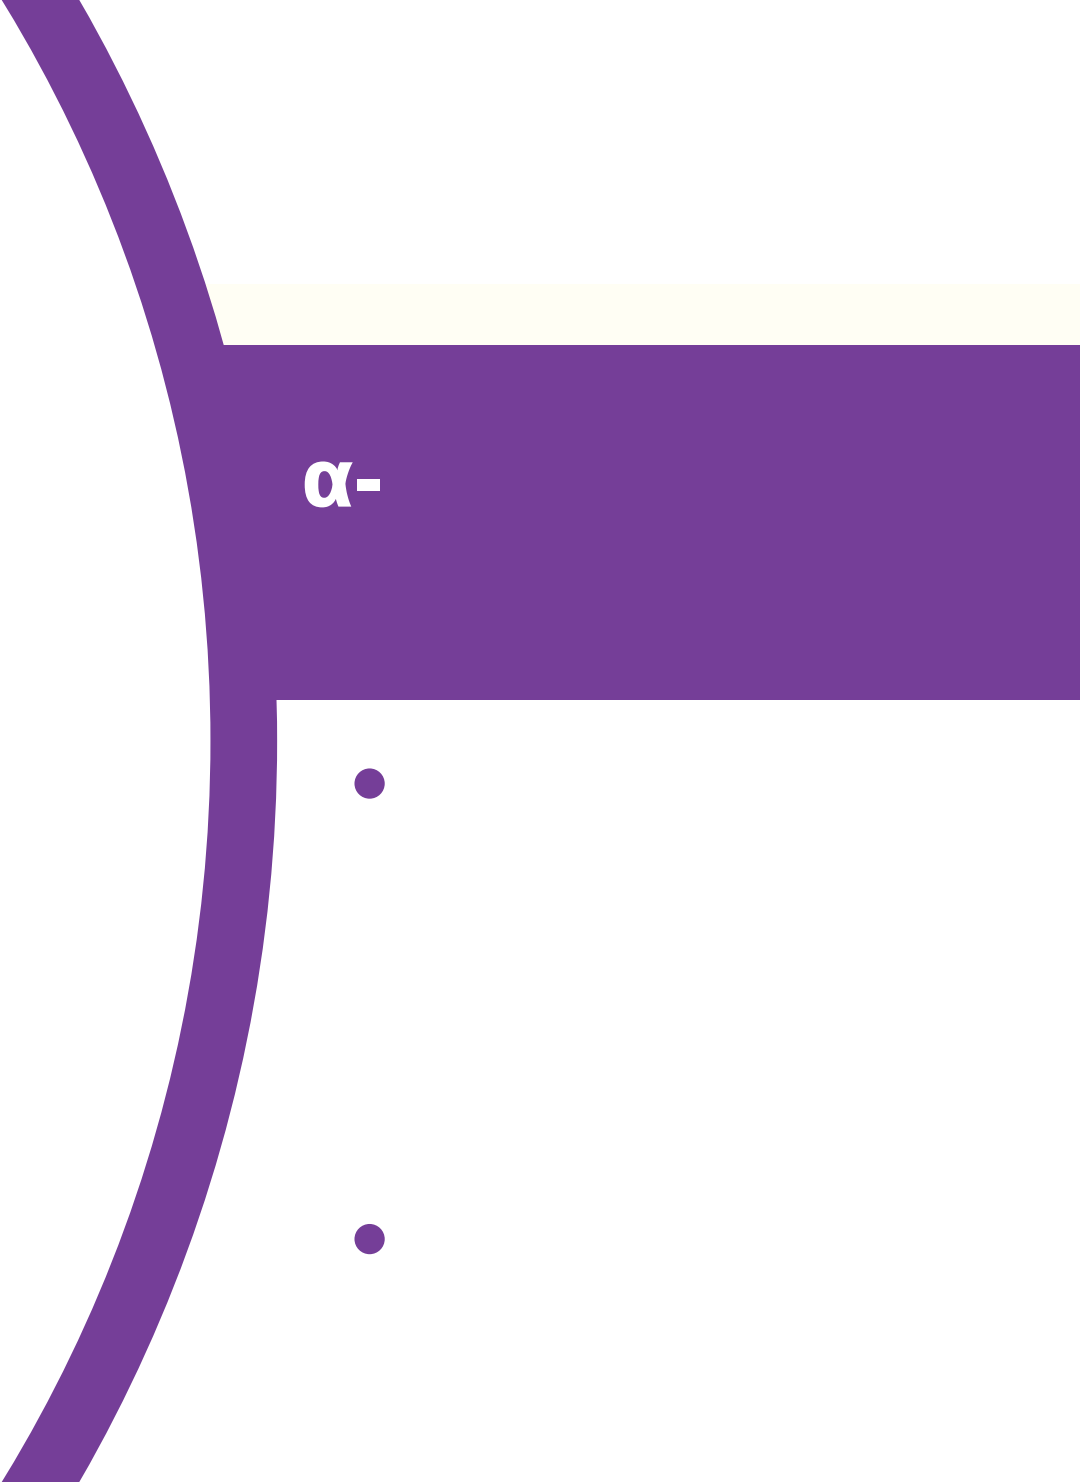

α-

•

•

β -

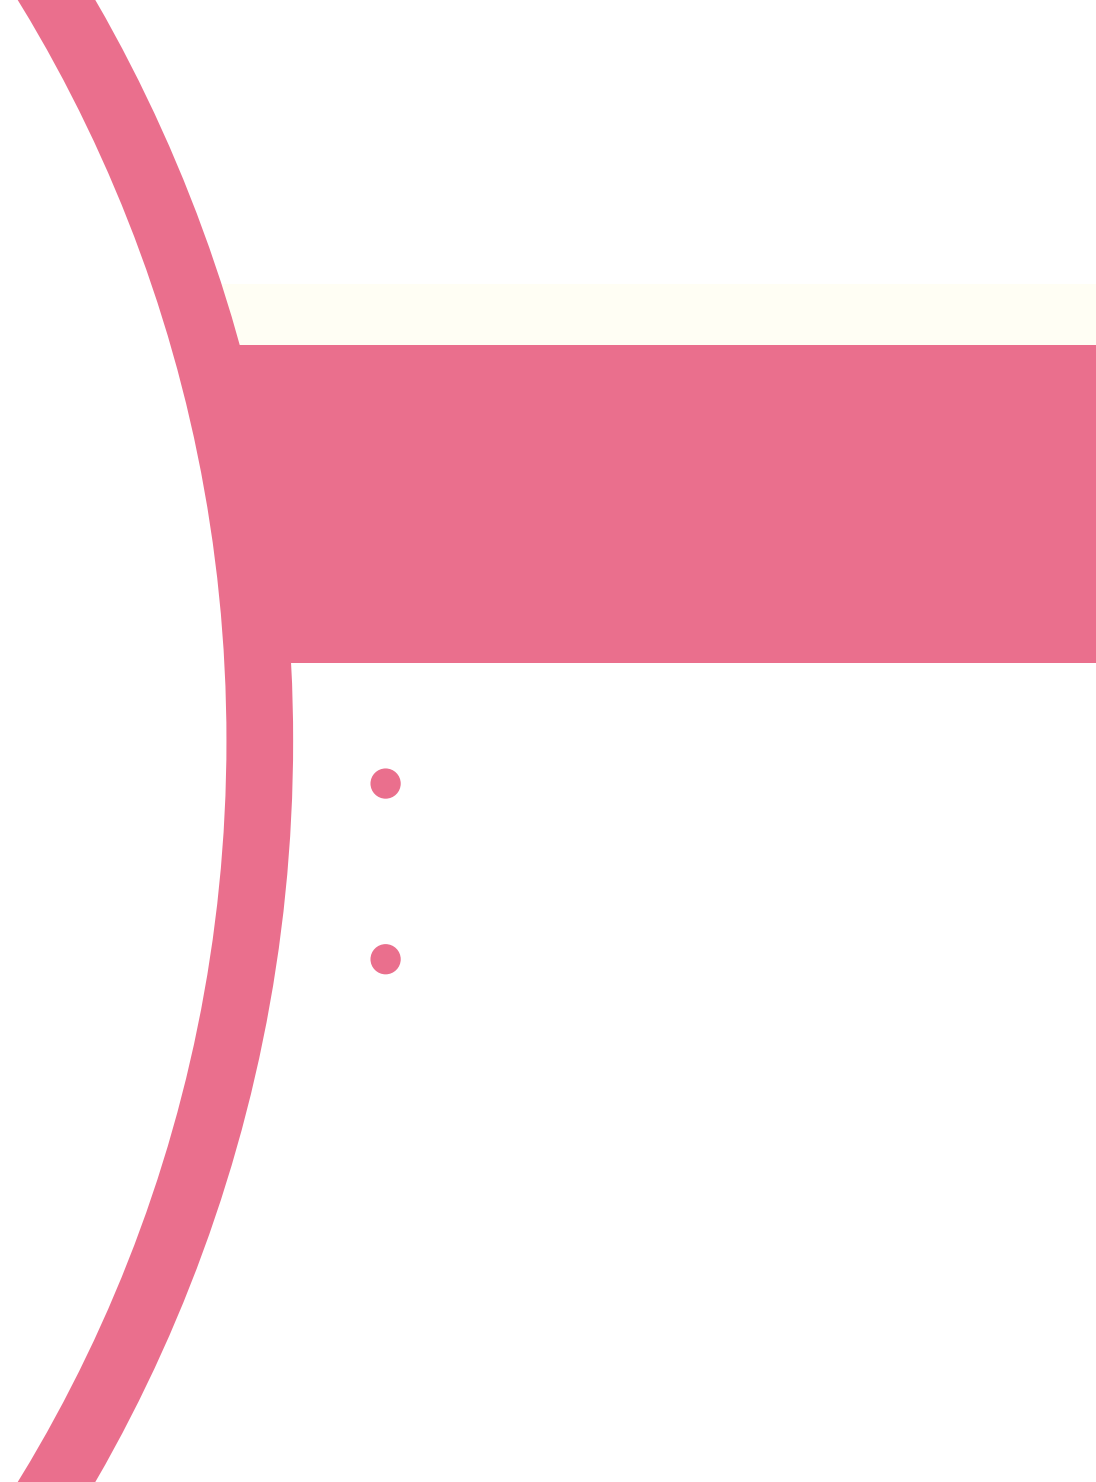

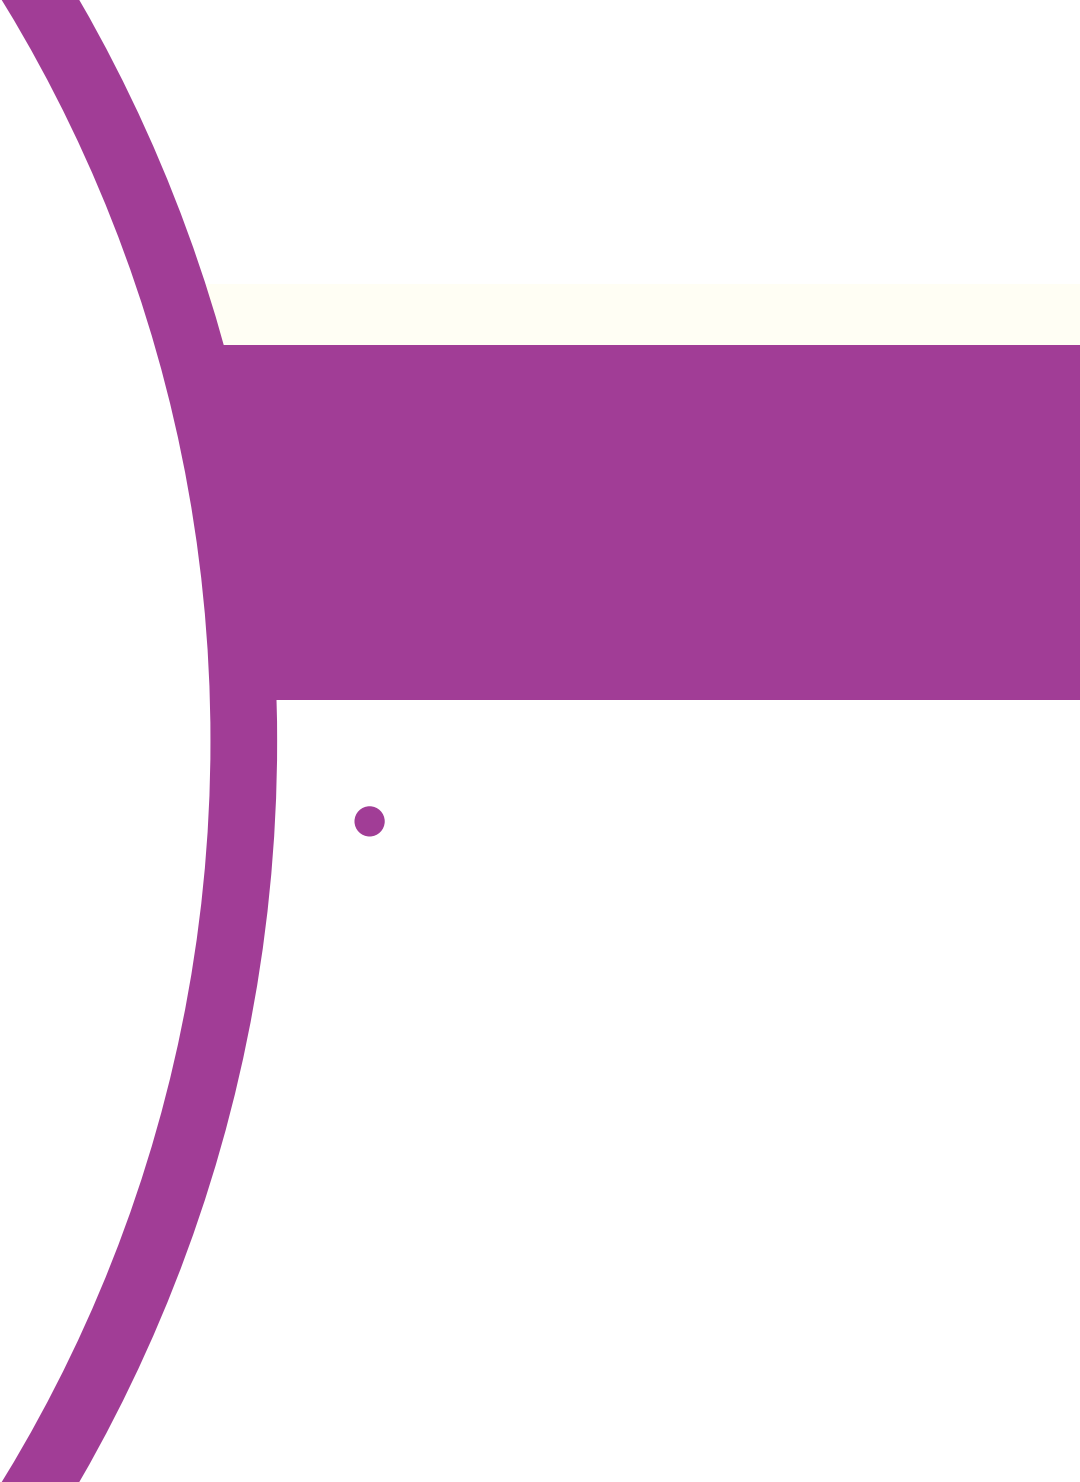

60

98

--

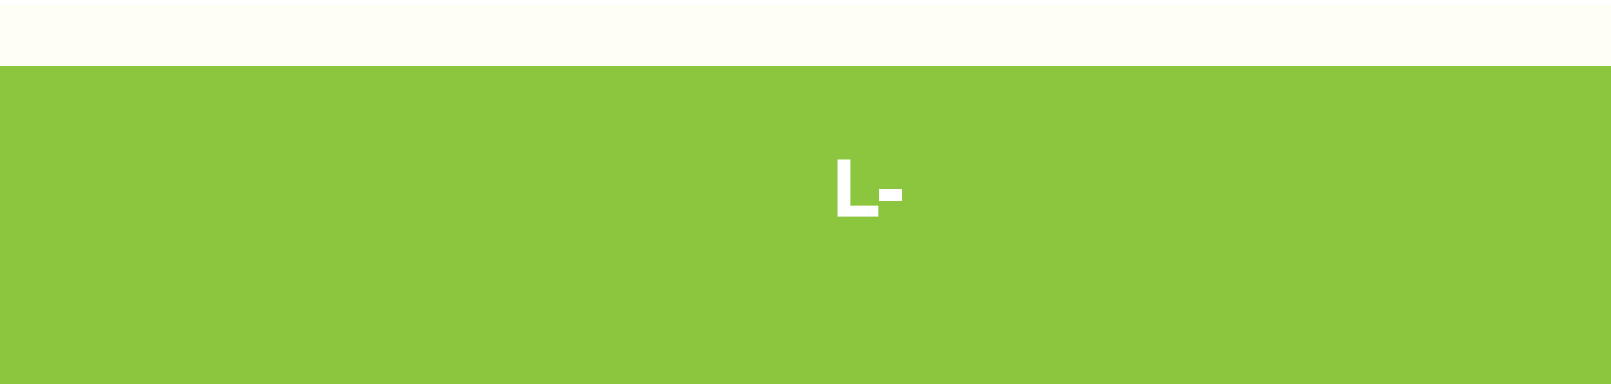

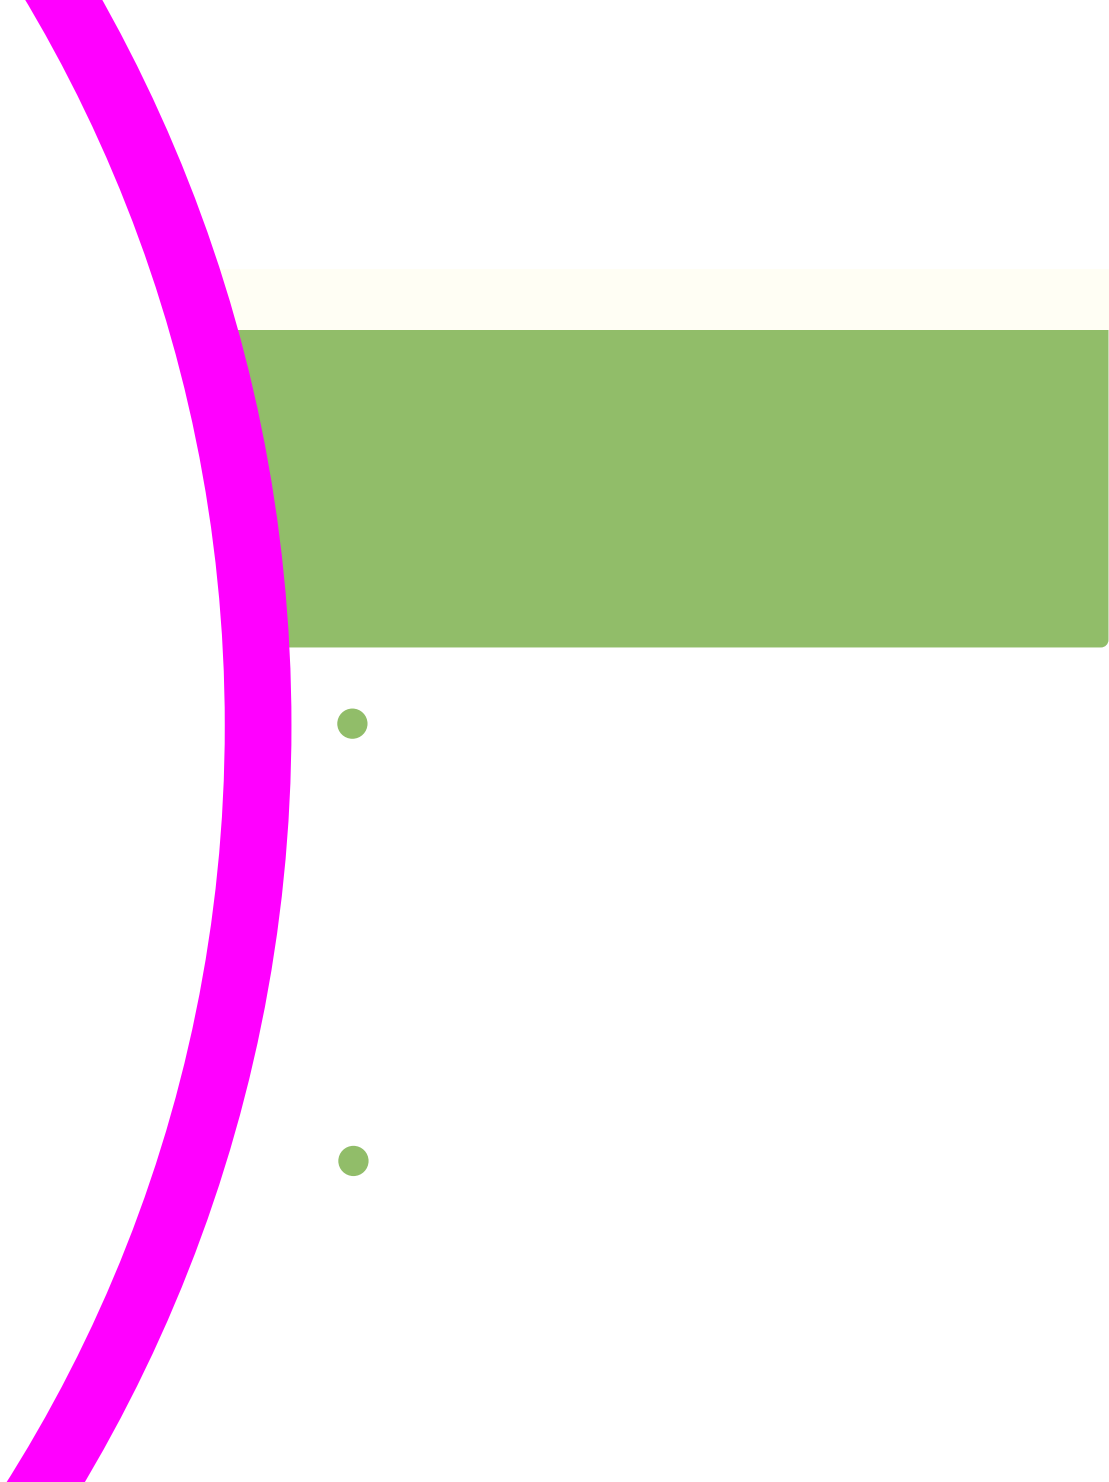

[illegible]

[illegible]

